

Sixth Form News

As we approach the end of year 12, our sixth formers have started planning for their Post 18 Progression Routes. Several students have secured invaluable placements which will support them in their choices by allowing them to stand out from the crowd!

for further education; this is the kind of experience that stands out on a UCAS Personal Statement.

A number of students have secured places on the Oxford University, overnight residential programme. Courses at this prestigious university are very difficult to secure due to the competition for spaces. This will be an invaluable opportunity for those attending and will allow them to show to university admission officers their passion

6th Form Progression Week

27th June to 1st July

A week of events, speakers, trips and sessions to support our students plan their next chapter.

One of our sixth formers have been accepted into the University of Surrey, Surrey Scholar's one week residential programme, with the faculty of Health and Medical Sciences. This week experience will provide them with the opportunity to not only gain independence but to attend taster sessions with academics and develop links with professionals within the industry.

This academic year we have developed links with the UEL, with students attending taster sessions, meeting academics and getting Q&A opportunities with student

Knowing the importance of exposing students to such environments and how much they contribute to raising their aspirations we have encouraged all our students to apply to attend the UEL Summer School in the areas they are most interested in. This has been a very successful initiative and the majority of our students will be attending the Summer School.

One of our students has been accepted into another very competitive course, a Law Taster Week at SOAS University. A Law degree is one of the most competitive course, which is why it is amongst courses that require the highest entry requirements. This week, will again allow our student to stand out from others and give her a fantastic insight into the world of an undergraduate law student.

We are an inclusive sixth form and recognise as well as encourage all progression routes. We have students who are interested in exploring apprenticeships once they finish with us, and these students have also been very successful in gaining work experience across a range of fields, to name a few, Art Therapist, Child Psychologists, Creative Arts, Finance and Law and Teaching.
